TRIBUNE CONTEMPT CASE.

Yesterday morning there was a large crowd in the Justice Court room to witness the contempt proceedings in the case of E. J. Parkinson, proprietor of the Tribune, cited for contempt by Justice Hawthorne.

The case grew out of a row that Mr. Stark, proprietor of the Ormsby House, had with Parker, his barkeeper. In the discussion Stark struck Parker in the face with a beer glass inflicting a lacerated wound.

Stark was arrested for assault and battery and on his trial convicted by a jury. He was fined $40 and costs, about $80 in all. The Tribune criticised the Court because of the fine and intimated that the Court was in with a plot to get the Ormsby House out of the hands of Stark, its present lessee. The article appeared on Sunday morning and the Court at once cited him for contempt on an affidavit made by Constable Cowing, an officer of the Court, as follows:

In the Justice Court, Carson Township, Ormsby County, Nevada. State of Nevada, County of Ormsby, ss.

Joseph H. Cowing, being duly sworn, deposes and says, that he is a citizen of the United States, over the age of 21 years and competent to be a witness in any legal proceeding: That on the 8th day of January, 1896, or on or about that day, Lew Stark was tried before Justice of the Peace, W. A. Hawthorne, in the Justice Court, Carson Township, Ormsby County, Nevada, and a jury, on the charge of having committed a misdemeanor in the town of Carson, County and State aforesaid, in throwing a glass at one — Parker a few days previous to his said trial, and was duly convicted of said offense by said jury; that on or about the 10th day of January, 1896, said Lew Stark was fined by said Judge for said offense, under said conviction by said jury in the sum of forty dollars and costs, amounting in all to $81.

That on the 11th day of January, 1896, one E. J. Parkinson was the proprietor and publisher of the Daily Nevada Tribune, a newspaper of general circulation, printed and published at Carson City, Ormsby County, Nevada.

That on said 11th day of January, 1896, well knowing said conviction of said Stark of said offense by said jury, fore said Judge, and well knowing said fine so imposed by said Judge under and by virtue of said conviction as aforesaid, said E. J. Parkinson as proprietor and publisher of said Daily Nevada Tribune, did wilfully and unlawfully and contemptuously, and with intent to bring said Court and said Judge into public contempt, print, publish and circulate in said Daily Nevada Tribune, in Carson City, Ormsby County, Nevada, and well knowing that the matters and things set forth in said publication was scandalous, contemptuous and false, the following, to-wit:

STARK'S SENTENCE.

At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon L. W. Stark was fined $40 and costs, which were $41, making the entire fine $81.

The fine is outrageously large, but then it is notorious that Hawthorne always finches a respectable citizen if he happens to get into his Court, and lets hobos and hoodlums off lightly. It looks to the Tribune as though the report that certain parties were behind Parker in the effort to cinch Stark, in order to injure the Ormsby House, and eventually get control of it, was true. But if they think they can secure the house from honest old Dick Kirman by these tactics they will soon find out their mistake.

Wherefore, affiant prays that an order be issued by the Judge of the Justice Court Carson Township, Ormsby County, Nevada, directed to said E. J. Parkinson, commanding him to appear before said Justice Court at the court room thereof on the 14th day of January, 1896, at 10 o'clock a. m. of said day, then and there to show why he should not be punished for contempt.

J. H. Cowing.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 13th day of January, 1896.

W. A. Hawthorne, J. P.

The following citation was issued. In the Justice Court, Carson Township, Ormsby County, Nevada. In the matter of the contempt of E. J. Parkinson.

Upon reading and filing the affidavit of Joseph H. Cowing. It is hereby ordered that E. J. Parkinson show cause before this Court on the 14th day of January, 1896 at 10 o'clock a. m. of said day, if he has, why he should not be adjudged guilty of a contempt of this Court and of the Judge thereof for the publication in the Daily Nevada Tribune, a newspaper printed and published in Carson City, Ormsby County, Nevada, by said E. J. Parkinson, of a certain article, on January 11, 1896, under the heading of "Stark's Sentence," which article is alleged to be scandalous, contemptuous and false, and which he published as allow with intent and purpose of bringing this Court and Judge thereof into contempt, and for the purpose and with the intent of obstructing the administration of justice.

It is further ordered that a copy of this order, duly certified, be forthwith served upon said E. J. Parkinson, attached to a copy of the affidavit on the file herein.

Witness my hand this 13th day of January, 1896

W. A. Hawthorne, J. P.

The above is a true copy of the affidavit and order on file in the Justice Court, Carson Township, Ormsby County, Nevada, above referred to.

Witness my hand this 13th day of January, 1896.

W. A. Hawthorne, J. P.

After the citation the following article appeared yesterday morning:

CITED FOR CONTEMPT.

Justice of the Peace Hawthorne has cited the editor of the Tribune to appear in his court at 10 a. m. today to answer to a charge of contempt for citing to comment on his sentence of W. Stark.

The liberties of the press are involved. All the editor asks of Judge Hawthorne is to sink his personal animosity for the Tribune editor, and decide the case in accordance with the law. Will he do it?

The Tribune calls Justice Hawthorne's attention to the fact that there are higher courts in this State and a way of reaching them; also such a thing as bondsmen of Justices of the Peace suffering for said Justices exceeding their jurisdiction and defying statutory law.

The crowd backing up Justice Hawthorne in his intention to punish the Tribune editor may crack their whip. Our time will come later on.

On the appearance of the article another bill of citation for contempt was issued.

When the case was called the defendant's attorney asked until Saturday on the ground that the first citation was a new thing and they had no time to prepare a proper defense. He thought that the Court should have time to cool down. Mr. Chartz, for the Court held that contempt proceedings were always of a summary character and the intimation that the Court was doing anything in the heat of passion was improper, he said however he had no objection to a continuance.

The Court said he held no feeling whatever against the defendant. He had always treated him and his family kindly but for years had been the target of his abuse. He had been charged with improper motives and reflections had been cast on his integrity as a judge. He thought it due the court that he uphold its dignity, but if the defendant would apologize he would dismiss the case. He declined to do so. The court accordingly granted a continuance until Saturday.

THE GOVERNOR'S CONDITION.

He is now Under the Care of an Electrician.

Governor Jones, whose case was given up by the physicians a few days ago is now under the care of Mrs. Cook a specialist who treats diseases by electricity. Since she took his case in hand he has shown decided improvement. In the morning a dispatch came from Mr. Hanford stating that he was much better. It was bulletined in front of the Court House. Later in the day the following was received by General Cartley Governor Jones decidedly better. Looks favorable for his recovery.

HOWELL.

In the afternoon a number of citizens joined in sending him congratulations and hope of speedy recovery.

Papers were served on Mining Engineer Eldridge here the other day. The result will be a suit against Mr. Eldridge for $25,000, by Mrs. Morris a mine promoter, which she claims is her share of the premium on the sale of the Buckeye mines. CHEAP CUSTOM WORK A DECEPTION.

A style of tailoring is rapidly gaining headway which is but an imposition upon the consumer and a detriment to the workman. The cheap custom work or what is called "special order work," is a shrewd dodge for the purpose of deceiving the customer into the belief that he is obtaining custom work at ready made prices. The real worth of custom work lies in the exactness of the fit, and the thoroughness in which it is made. Cheap custom work is therefore inferior to ready made work.

Large concerns, some also engaged in ready made work have grown up of late and depend for patronage upon retail stores, and have numerous agents scattered everywhere soliciting orders and gain trade because of the strikingly cheap prices offered for goods made to order. As a rule these agents seldom obtain an order twice from the same person.

It is about time that this scheme was exposed to the people and ABE COHN of the EMPORIUM shows up the fraud. If you want clothes that fit and are tried on as often as is necessary call at the EMPORIUM Court House Building, Carson City, Nevada.
